Core Design Features

5-4 Designated Typeface

5-4-1 Designated Fonts and Alternative Fonts

Typography means the fonts recommended for use in printed materials distributed outside the company to maintain the consistency of the corporate brand. Premium gothic fonts from Morisawa (UD Shin Go for Japanese, Korean, Traditional Chinese, simplified Chinese, Clarimo UD for English and other languages) are the designated fonts that should be used in printed materials.

These premium fonts are examples of universal design (UD), being easy to install and recognize for viewers while communicating information accurately.

If the premium font is not available and difficult to obtain, use a PC preinstalled font (Meiryo for Japanese, Arial/Helvetica for English and other languages) as alternatives.

For languages that do not support Arial, use a gothic font similar to the designated font.

Example of fonts

ABC

•In general, use Light
•Use Medium if the letters are small and legibility is bad

| Latin script | Designated fonts (Premium fonts) | Alternative fonts (Preinstalled fonts) |
|---|---|---|
| ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZabcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890&?% | ClarimoUD PE Light | Win : —Mac : Helvetica Light |
| ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZabcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890&?% | ClarimoUD PE Medium | Win : Arial RegularMac : Helvetica Regular |
| ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZabcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890&?% | ClarimoUD PE Demi Bold | Win : Arial BoldMac : Helvetica Bold |

※If none of the approved typefaces are available, please use a sans serif/gothic typeface similar in design to those listed on this page.
※When using our primary brand font, Clarimo, is not feasible for web or print applications, the Google Font Roboto is approved as an alternative. To ensure consistent typography across all brand materials, please adhere to the following guidelines:
- Roboto – Thin: Use in place of Clarimo Light.
- Roboto – Regular: Use in place of Clarimo Regular.
- Roboto – Bold: Use in place of Clarimo Bold.

Roboto is available for free and can be downloaded with an open-source license:
https://fonts.google.com/specimen/Roboto

5-4-2 Items Recommended to Use Designated Fonts and How to Obtain the Fonts

Please refer to the information shown on the right for the list of materials for which the designated fonts are most preferred.

When using a subcontractor to produce printed materials:
Instruct the subcontractor to use the premium fonts. Use alternative fonts (Meiryo for Japanese and Arial/Helvetica for English and other languages) if the subcontractor does not have access to these premium fonts and it would be difficult to use them.

When producing printed materials in house:
The designated premium fonts will need to be purchasedfromMorisawa.Contact theBrandStrategy & Management Group, Corporate Communications Div., FUJIFILM Holdings Corporation if you would like to install the purchased fonts. Downloading premium fonts, including Morisawa's, from free download websites is illegal and strictly prohibited.
Use alternative PC fonts (Meiryo for Japanese and Arial/Helvetica for English and other languages) if the designated premium fonts are not available or too difficult to obtain.
For languages that do not support Arial, use a gothic font similar to the designated font.

Materials for which the designated fonts are most preferred:

| Printed materials | Designated fonts (Premium fonts) | Alternative fonts (Preinstalled fonts) |
|---|---|---|
| | English and others: Clarimo UD | English and others: Arial/Helvetica |
| Business card | ○ | Alternative fonts can be used if premium fonts are not available |
| Envelope | | |
| Letterhead | | |
| Integrated report | | |
| Sustainability report | | |
| Company guide | | |
| Web site | | |

※When using our primary brand font, Clarimo, is not feasible for web or print applications, the Google Font Roboto is approved as an alternative. To ensure consistent typography across all brand materials, please adhere to the following guidelines:
・Roboto – Thin: Use in place of Clarimo Light.
・Roboto – Regular: Use in place of Clarimo Regular.
・Roboto – Bold: Use in place of Clarimo Bold.
Roboto is available for free and can be downloaded with an open-source license:
https://fonts.google.com/specimen/Roboto

In the case of catalogs and advertisements, effective font styles other than the specified font style may be used according to the purpose of the media and the function/expression.